The first number of the Canadian Sporting News has been received and placed on our exchange list. It is published by J. F. MacIntyre, who has secured H. J. P. Good to control the editorial department. That in itself is sufficient to insure the paper success. Mr. Good being known throughout Canada as a thoroughly competent writer on all matters of sport.

A meeting of the executive of the E. L. C. of Women was held on Saturday last at Mrs. A. Taylor's residence, when arrangements were made for a public meeting next Thursday of which notice appears in this issue. The Executive hope that there will be a large number of ladies present as the papers received from the National Council will be read and considered, giving those present a clear idea of the scope and work of the Society.
Ottawa, March 25.—It is said that the aid to be given to that part of Hudson's Bay railway running to the Saskatchewan, is an advance of $2,500,000, being a conversion of the annual cash subsidy of $80,000, which the company was to receive for the carriage of mails and supplies when the road was in operation. Security is found by retaining this subsidy which may never be earned and by a first mortgage on the road up to the Saskatchewan.—Free Press.

It should be stopped. The Main street is not the proper place for breaking horses. Endangers lives, especially as there are a number of young people and children, who are at this time of the year, on the streets. There is space unlimited outside of the town, and no reason why the horses should not be ridden in that direction. It is also well for the party breaking them, that there is no humane society to see them, or the consequences might be rather against them. No doubt many of the bronches are stubborn and at times take rough handling, but beyond that, which it goes to here, it is altogether unnecessary; let it stop.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Friday, March 29th.

The governments demand for a certain amount to be deposited before contract would be let for bridge was considered by a special meeting of the town council on Friday evening last.
Communication from Beck & Emery read regarding the power of the municipality to give a bonus for the construction of a bridge, and from Pigeon & Degendorfer regarding electric street railway.
Picard—Edmonton. That a by-law for $15,000 be prepared to be submitted to the ratepayers for the purpose of paying the Dominion government 25% of the cost of the proposed traffic bridge across the river Saskatchewan.
Bellamy—Edmonton. That the mayor, town solicitor and town clerk be a committee to draft a letter to the minister of public works in reply to their communication of the 7th inst., stating the circumstances under which resolution was passed, and that in our opinion the government should not now ask for this aid from the town of Edmonton as the bridge is for the advantage of the district. But in accordance with the resolution of the council of 1894, that we will submit the By-law to raise the $15,000 to the ratepayers of the town, and to add to this in their letter anything further they may deem necessary.
Strang—Picard. That the letter from Messrs. Pigeon & Degendorfer be filed for future reference.
Strang—Bellamy. That the solicitor be instructed to prepare a petition as required by the municipal ordinance for the submitting of the $15,000 by-law, in connection with the bridge to be circulated by a committee consisting of the mayor and councillors Edmonton and Picard.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, APRIL 28, 1905.

POLITICAL MEETING.

Edmonton hall was nearly filled Thursday evening last to hear Frank Oliver, the independent liberal candidate for Alberta. Mr. Bellamy took the chair about 8:30 p. m. After explaining that any gentleman would be allowed to speak in the interests of any of the candidates, he called upon Mr. Oliver to address the meeting. He said:

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, as you are aware, a few days ago we all thought we were on the eve of a political contest. You know that conventions have been held, candidates nominated, and every preparation made for the election. You all know that in the course of these preparations it fell upon me to become the candidate of a certain interest, to represent certain views in this contest, and it is for the purpose of laying before you these views and interests that I stand before you to night, and to give other candidates or their representatives the opportunity to place their views before the public of Edmonton. Events have occurred which lead us to believe that this contest which we expected will not take place at once. However it is a certainty that the contest for which we are preparing will take place within the present year and quite likely that it will yet take place within a month or two. It is a good thing for us at this early stage of the proceedings, when we are not altogether committed in our views, to arrive at a conclusion as to the interests we had better advocate in this contest. We are called upon to discuss these questions on their own merits without regard to the personality of the several candidates. There was a time when the whole procedure was very much a matter of "hurry-hurry," and voting in the name of a party without regard to the questions at issue. People now go into an election contest with different ideas, and advocate their own views and interests; and every man should consider what would be the best for his own interests before he casts his vote. As to the political position which I occupy in this contest, it is that of an independent liberal, nominated by the liberal party, but independent of party to the extent that I am expected to advocate first and foremost the interests of the country. It is the interests of the country first and the principles of the party next. (Applause.) That is perhaps an unusual position in a Canadian election, but it is a position understood by all the parties to it, and shows that political ideas are changing in this country. The question at issue between the two parties in this contest is the tariff, and I wish to satisfy you that the policy of the liberal party is the better policy for this country. Both parties agree that if we have a government we must have a revenue, and that that revenue shall be raised by a tariff on imports. The conservative policy includes a tariff for protection, which assists certain industries at the expense of certain other industries. A system of government that aids one man at the expense of his neighbor is an unfair and unjust system, and should not exist, and as that is the policy of the conservative party, I feel bound to vote against it. When we levy a tax for the purpose of raising a revenue, we have to consider that that tax be so adjusted that it will be equally on the shoulders of the people and that on the principle of square even handed dealing no one shall have an advantage over another. A protective tariff does not benefit the revenue. The tariff for revenue is for the general benefit; the tariff for protection is for special benefit. As an instance take sugar. What is true in regard to that article is true as to the whole line of protected industries. Sugar is an article consumed by every man, woman and child in the country and a tax which increases the price of sugar ever so little is a tax which every one has to pay. A certain tax was placed on raw sugar; that was for revenue. Refined sugar was taxed extra and that extra tax was paid, not into the treasury, but into the pocket of the refiner. That was the purpose for which that duty was levied. It was not long before a complaint went out that the price of sugar was too high in Canada. An outcry was made against this protective feature of the tariff and the price of sugar had to be brought down. The government came to the rescue and took off not the protective tariff, but the revenue tariff, allowing raw sugar to come into the country free, and the price of sugar came down the amount of the revenue tariff. The protective tariff remained and the amount you pay now, more than you could otherwise buy sugar for, is the amount that is paid for protection into the pockets of the refiners. What are you going to do for a revenue if you lower the tariff? A question frequently asked by those who favor the protective tariff. You can strike off the protective features of the tariff, decrease the burdens of the people by that amount, and the payments you make to the revenue will be exactly the same. You are paying now the revenue and to the manufacturer. You strike off the tax that goes to the manufacturer and the treasury gets as much as before. I do not wish to say that the liberal party are against the manufacturers and that they do not want them to flourish and prosper, nor that they do not realize that they are an advantage to the country. All that they object to is the manufacturer getting more than his share. We don't ask that there should be no tariff, and the liberal party would be the last people to deprive manufacturers of the protection of the revenue tariff. But there is a vast difference between giving the fair protection of a revenue tariff and giving special protection by the protective tariff. There is certainly no benefit to us, for the extra payments we make under a protective tariff. If we change the policy of the government in this particular, I do not say it will make the country prosperous and flourishing, I leave that to the gentlemen who advocate the protective policy. But I do say that in allowing every man to keep in his pocket that share of his labor to which he is entitled, we are helping him a great deal more than if we helped to take his money for some one else. When the present policy was first introduced it was insisted that we should receive great benefits from it, that we would never know hard times again. That is if we paid a little more for our clothing and provisions, that we would ensure general prosperity. If these promises are made good, then we should vote for the protective tariff. If prosperity exists let us send more representatives to Ottawa to fight for the benefit of the people. Unfortunately for that argument, it is a too well known fact that the prosperity promised at that time does not exist to-day. Men who have had good employment are thrown out on the world. Work is hard to get, wages are small, farm produce is low. Are these the signs of prosperity? If there is anything in the protective tariff which can change these conditions I say let us have it. It is very well to say we do enjoy prosperity, but what we want is a little of that prosperity now. If protection will not give us prosperity let us also paying the double taxes demanded by protection and thereby help ourselves to prosperity, which is the policy of the liberal party, and I stand before you to-night pledged to support the liberal party on that particular part of their platform. There is another interest that I will allude to, as important to us as the tariff and that is the railway question. It has been discussed amongst us before. We have felt the pinch and we must do our best to remove the cause. This district of Alberta which is the furthest from the seaboard has to pay the highest proportionate rate in the Dominion. Starting at Halifax, from there to Montreal enjoys the lowest, rate, west of Port Arthur it is a little higher, from Winnipeg to Edmonton it is very much higher. The Dominion of Canada has a large interest in the C. P. R. It was built with public money on the understanding that it would develop the Northwest Territories. Its rates are such as to hinder rather than help. The bargain is therefore broken, and it is the business of the parliament of Canada to see that that company, which has taken our money, shall make its agreement good. The government has a certain duty to perform. Can you depend on the present government to discharge this duty and bring about a proper understanding as to railway rates? The government say: We cannot do anything about it. Whatever else they may control, they do not control the C. P. R. for the very good reason that that company controls them. Therefore whatever we may require in our dealings with the C. P. R. we need not look to the conservative party to obtain that for us. If the rates cannot be controlled by legislation they can be controlled by railway extension, and competition. When the present road that runs here was spoken of, a company in England was willing to build it, but they could not get the money, nor would the government help them to get it. But the next year when the C. P. R. wanted that branch built, there was not only a land grant, but a bonus of $80,000 a year given to build and operate the road. Had that money and grant been given to an opposition company, we would have had competition, and would have had lower rates. There is a project on foot to build a line from the Pacific coast past Edmonton to Winnipeg, and anyone knowing the country and its resources, must know that that road will some day be built. Is it to be built in the interests of this country or in the interests of the C. P. R.? Are we to be prevented from having competition, because our government can be dictated to by a railway company, or will you send representatives to Ottawa who will stand up for your interests, and assist to get a road built as a competing line, and not as a branch of monopoly. If we have another $25,000,000 to give, let us give it to another company, so that when the C. P. R. says, "You exist at our pleasure," we can say: "No; We have another outlet." We have been represented in parliament for eight years, by a friend of the government. Have we received any special benefit from that style of representation? The Calgary and Edmonton railway was chartered during the term of that representation to come to the Saskatchewan river at Edmonton. Its purpose as understood by parliament was to carry on the work of development which you had commenced. You know whether it came to the Saskatchewan river at Edmonton or not and with what purpose it stopped short. It was for the direct purpose of bankrupting every man who was in business in Edmonton or who owned property here. This was the measure of favor received in that important case. There is another case in which the friendship between ourselves and the government was strongly shown. It was the "Land office trouble." We had an office here and we wanted it to stay. We were, remember, the friends of the government at this time, and our land office was going to be moved. We objected to its being moved, and on that particular occasion our friendship did not appear to be very strong. Our representative was in the house of commons, which was in session at that time, and in this matter between the government and its friends, this friendly representative could not or at least did not help us. There are men here to-night, who for the sake of their own interests and rights risked their lives, and had to do it, in order to protect these rights, although supposed to be protected by our representative. The only way that the matter was brought before the house of commons and our interests and our liberties protected, was by a telegram sent to the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, the leader of the opposition. It was not our friendly representative, but on the leader of the opposition we had to depend, at the most critical time in the history of this town. It is a mistaken and cowardly idea to say we must be represented by a friend of the government in order to secure our rights. It is a libel on either party, in any honest country to say that people cannot get justice, except they are represented by a fawning favorite. If our case rests on justice it is for us to present that case on its merits and parliament and the government, whether the majority is conservative or liberal will judge that case on its merits, if we present it in a proper manner. But if we go as the dog which fawns around your feet, we will get just what the dog gets, and what we have got in the past, the kick, and we will deserve it. I am before you as a candidate in this contest because the lot has fallen upon me as an elector of the constituency to do what lies in my power to advance its interests, the interests upon which your future and mine depends, and I ask you to vote for me only in so far as you believe that that will be in your own interest; but if you do believe, just as I am doing all I can as a candidate to win in this contest I ask you to do all you can as electors to secure the same result.

ELECTION ADDRESS.

To the electors of Alberta.

GENTLEMEN.—As the nominee of the convention of Alberta liberals which was held recently at Calgary, and having been assured of a strong support by the patrons of industry in Northern Alberta, as well as at the solicitation of a large number of independent conservatives in this part of the country, I have the honor to offer myself as a candidate for the representation of Alberta in the Commons at the approaching general election. The stand which I take with the full knowledge and consent of those who have tendered me their support is that of an independent as to party, but not as to principle. On the main question at present at issue between the liberal and conservative parties, I understand that the organizations and individuals tendering me their support have done so with the wish and expectation that I would and will so far as lies in my power support the policy of a tariff for revenue as against the policy of a tariff for protection, which is the declared policy of the present government; on the ground that the protective policy discriminates unjustly against the western producer in favor of the eastern manufacturer.

Although holding strongly with the liberal party and also the patron organization on this point, I have not bound myself to either of these because I believe that the first duty of the single representative of so great a country holding such great possibilities as this district of Alberta should be to use his every energy for the further development of this country and the realization of these possibilities; as he can not if he is to be subject to restraint by the exigencies of any party. This constituency has had party representation during the past eight years,—has been represented by a member of the party in power then and now. If the results have been satisfactory, that principle should be continued. If not it should be changed. It is because I believe that this system of party representation has been gravely injurious to this district that I have consented to make the personal sacrifice involved in my candidature, and because, so far as I know, no other person was likely to come forward to advocate these or like views.

In a region so vast and varied as Alberta it would be impossible for any man at any time to define all the points of policy that would affect each locality, therefore I do not attempt to do so here. I hope from time to time, however, in the course of the contest, to have the opportunity to discuss fully with the electors at most of the principal centres of population, all matters that may come up for discussion, in whatever shape they may appear. That such a vast region, having such a large population and such important interests should be accorded only one representative is as plain a case of injustice as is required to show the glaring failure of party representation to secure the people in even their simplest rights. The matter of railway extension and railway rates particularly in the north and the question of irrigation in the south seem to be the great questions affecting the interests of the district with which parliament will from time to time have to deal. I need not point out that while these are vital questions to Alberta, they are not party questions at all, and it is all the more necessary that your representative should be in a position to advocate your interests in regard to them in parliament without party hindrance even if he has to do it without party support.

Speaking generally I may say that I will support a policy of development for Alberta and while I will not bind myself to ask for favors for any section or interest I will bind myself to do all in my power to see that each section and every interest receives fair and equal treatment.

In conclusion I will say that although I have no personal interest to serve or ambition to gratify by entering upon this contest, yet having entered upon it in good faith I shall do all I can to win, and ask for the active assistance of every man who believes that the success of the principles which I have been selected to advocate would be in the interest of this constituency and of the country.

Respectfully Yours,

FRANK OLIVER.

In the matter of the estate of Donald McLeod, deceased.

Upon the application of Leod McLeod the duly appointed attorney of Murdo McLeod, the father and next of kin of the said deceased, the administrator of the estate of Donald McLeod, deceased, and upon reading the petition, affidavits and other documents.

I do hereby order that all persons and creditors having any claims against the estate of Donald McLeod, deceased, late of Edmonton, in the District of Alberta, who died on or about the 23rd November, A. D. 1894, do send the claims against the estate of the said deceased to P. L. McNamara, of Edmonton, aforesaid, Advocate for the said Leod McLeod, within six weeks from the publication of this notice in the EDMONTON BULLETIN and in the Alberta Tribune, Calgary.

I do hereby order that this order shall be published in each of the said newspapers once in each week for four consecutive weeks.

And notice is hereby given that at the expiration of the time above fixed the said Leod McLeod shall be at liberty to distribute the assets of the said deceased or any part thereof among the parties entitled thereto, having regard to the claims only so far as they may be proved to the satisfaction of the court, and that he shall not be liable for the estate or any part thereof so distributed to any person whose claim the said Leod McLeod shall not have had notice of at the time of distribution of the estate or any part thereof as aforesaid.

LEDUC GLEANINGS.

There arrived on Wednesday's special train cars of settlers' effects, one from Kansas for J. N. K. Reid, one from Parry Sound for Chas. Mortimer, and one from Monheim, Ont., for Mr. Townsend.

The country west of Leduc is now settling rapidly with a very desirable class of settlers, mostly from Kansas.

R. T. Telford has rented his hotel to M. Barrett who is now manipulating the guests with his usual courtesy.

Mr. Oliver is the only one mentioned here in politics. He will carry the whole vote.

Telford & Co. have moved their stock into Douglas & Casault's old stand. The post office is also moved into the same building.

R. Featherstone is moving into Mr. Heath's old stand.

Our shoemaker R. British is erecting a dwelling on Freeman avenue.

Talk about your Edison's inventions! They have now introduced a pen in Leduc, the several parties in Parry Sound have signed school petitions with, which have been circulated here. They are called the long range pen.

S. Vincent is about to erect a blacksmith shop on Main street.

The recent decision of the pioneer debating club, on the question, "Is money a benefit to man or not," which decision was given in the affirmative, has brought a big change in our midst, as everyone now seems to be grasping for the dollar. The general belief is that this decision will prove a document to the C. P. R., as prior to this decision it is pretty well understood that no one outside of this faction was onto the wrinkle.

The anti-school party have now closed their campaign on the school question. It is a poor tree that bears no fruit.

HARRY.

Leduc, March 28th, 1895.

In Hung Chang, the Chinese peace envoy was shot at by a young Japanese. It is believed the wound is not serious. The incident may cause the breaking off of the peace negotiations which were proceeding satisfactorily.

A book commenting on municipal government in Great Britain by Albert Shaw, says: "That the public spirit of the cities of Great Britain, shown in the unpaid service of their best men, puts the selfish indifference of our best citizens to shame. The chief cause of the difference will probably be found not so much in the systems as in the men chosen to administer them. The statement that it is proven to be entirely practical for a city, if it has reached a sufficiently high standard of civilization, to own and operate its own lighting and street railway machinery, greatly to its own advantage, may be commended especially to the attention of many cities at the present time."

Spring Goods

Spring Goods like the season should be fresh, fair and new. Mother earth throws off her garment of tarnished snow and blossoms into fresh green raiment, and it is the natural and constant effort of youth not only to follow but if possible to anticipate the actions of its elders. We can now place it within your reach to be at least abreast of the season, early as it is.

Our spring goods have arrived and we can now offer you Spring Dress Goods in endless variety — Cashmeres, Serges, Tweeds, Foules, Cashmerettes, Drillettes, Duckings, Sateens, Crepons, Linettes, etc., etc., in all shades and patterns. SILKS—Pongee, China, Surah, Moire, Grosgrain and Fancy Trimming Silks in all colors and shades.

THE COUNTRY SETTLING FAST.

Immigration has commenced in earnest. Every train is getting larger, and the question is asked: Can they be coming into other parts of the Territories as they are flocking into Northern Alberta? During this month 370 settlers have arrived and settled north of Calgary and this in the month when nothing more than locating the land and perhaps getting out a few logs or fence rails can possibly be done. The bulk of these settlers have come from the Western States, our nearest neighbors, and are people who know exactly what the country is like before coming, having either sent delegates to inspect the country's resources, or have heard from their friends who have been here before them. These settlers are not coming empty handed. Thirty-four car loads of stock and effects were brought in by them. There were 85 settlers on last train leaving Calgary, over half of whom came through to Edmonton: 12 of these came from Ontario, 4 from England, and 69 from different parts of the United States, as follows: 40 from Minnesota, 20 from Dakota, 1 from Nebraska, 1 from Iowa, 3 from Michigan, 3 from Washington, and 1 from Wyoming Territory. They chose different points along the line as their destination: 9 to Innisfail, 3 to Red Deer, 9 to Lacombe, 19 to Wetaskiwin, and 47 to Edmonton. Six cars of stock and effects were brought in by these settlers, of which five came to Edmonton, and one to Wetaskiwin.

TROOPER AND REDSKIN.

Commissioner Herchmer in being interviewed at Calgary, told the story of the capture of some horse thieves near the boundary. Now he surely did not want anyone to believe that the police had been trailing the thieves for some time, as he says, and thought they were white men from the States, but turned out to be an Indian and his nephew. It is not likely the commissioner has ever done much trailing himself, unless it was on the track of some one in and around the barracks, or he would not have made that remark, because there is not a man in the force, that has served any time out of Regina, who cannot tell the difference between a white man's track, or camp, and a squaw's. "He says we're not impairing the strength of the force at all. What it amounts to is this: Instead of having some 950 good, bad and indifferent men in the force, we have now, or will have, say 800 first-class men." The commissioner by his statement and action, does not think that the men who came to the country years ago and did duty of such a nature, that the duty of to-day is child's play in comparison, are as good as the men he has in the force at present. Several men who served the force almost since its beginning have been discharged, and he says we are not discharging any of our good men. The force is stronger to-day than it ever was.
